Biography

Rob is a litigator admitted to practice in California and Texas. He has experience representing individuals and entities in complex and diverse litigation matters, including media and entertainment, intellectual property disputes, white-collar investigations, data privacy and security, breach of contract, and mergers and acquisitions.

He received his J.D., with honors, from The University of Texas School of Law. While in law school, Rob interned for the New York State Attorney General's Litigation Bureau and the Honorable Frances Stacy in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas. Rob earned his B.A., magna cum laude, in Advertising and Creative Writing from the University of Houston.

Before joining Miller Barondess, Rob worked in the Los Angeles office of a large international law firm and as a law clerk for the Honorable Madeline Cox Arleo in the United States District Court for the District of New Jersey.
