Biography

Natalie Schachner is a business litigator admitted to practice in California. Her experience spans both civil and criminal law in state and federal court. As a former Deputy District Attorney for Los Angeles County, Natalie has a robust trial record, having successfully tried numerous cases before juries. Her tenure in the D.A.'s office involved a diverse array of criminal matters, encompassing all stages of litigation. Natalie has specific expertise in investigating and analyzing officer-involved shootings and police use of force.

Prior to her role as a D.A., Natalie practiced in the Los Angeles office of a large, international law firm, where she was a member of the White Collar Defense and Corporate Investigations, Securities Litigation, and Health Care practice groups. She has experience conducting wide-scale internal investigations for Fortune 500 companies, as well as litigating securities class actions.

A Los Angeles native, Natalie received her Juris Doctor from Loyola Law School of Los Angeles in 2009, Order of the Coif. Natalie graduated Phi Beta Kappa from the University of California, Berkeley, where she received a Bachelor's Degree in History. Natalie enjoys teaching fifth graders about the criminal justice system and preparing Saturday brunches at the St. Francis Center for those in need.
