Biography

Tro Iskedjian is a litigator who specializes in complex business and real estate disputes. Tro decided to pursue a legal career after growing up in a minority community in Toronto and understanding the importance of giving people a voice. He enjoys the excitement of finding creative ways to build cases and arguments. In 2025, the Armenian Bar Association honored Tro on its prestigious “20 Under 40 Rising Stars” list, recognizing exceptional young attorneys who exemplify professional excellence, visionary leadership, and steadfast commitment to advancing the legal community.

Tro earned his Juris Doctor from U.C. Irvine School of Law, where he was an editor on the U.C. Irvine Law Review and a teaching assistant for a legal writing course. He earned a Bachelor’s degree, summa cum laude, from York University.

Prior to joining Miller Barondess, Tro worked in the Los Angeles office of a large national firm. Tro routinely volunteers within the local Armenian community in Los Angeles. He is an active member of the Armenian Bar Association and is currently serving as the Association’s Young Lawyers Committee co-chair.
